Dear Friends,

I hope you are well, and enjoying or at least enduring the heat and the storms.

This week is the 10th Sunday after Trinity, and I enclose my own sermon and intercessions from David Fulljames. In church, the 9.30 service at Good Shepherd will be Holy Communion, and 11.00 at Christ Church is Morning Prayer.

Collect *Lord of heaven and earth, as Jesus taught his disciples to be persistent in prayer, give us patience and courage never to lose hope,
but always to bring our prayers before you;
through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.*

Readings:      Romans 11: 1-2a, 29-32      Matthew 15: 10-28

We give thanks we remain one fellowship, whether we worship in church or at home. The PCC has agreed to continuing the current pattern of services, in church and online (and by DVD) through the autumn. Obviously know one knows what will transpire over the coming months, but we are committed to providing the means for everyone to access the churches' worship in this parish. New rotas are currently being compiled.

I'm glad to report Rev Lin is settling into the parish very well, but current circumstances mean it's harder for her to get to know people. She'd love to talk to as many as possible, so do give her a ring: 07759 764627. She's also open to being invited to your garden for a cup of tea!

Have a good week,

Phil
